

In regards to the FCC proposal to expand the LPFM, I think it would be detrimental to do so. My wife and I listen to K-love radio and feel that it is a real blessing. K-LOVE serves the community by offering an alternative of good Christian music, not "churchy".

The music is on a quality par with any mainstream commercial style. The airplay, both commentary and musical is positive and completely wholesome and nonthreatening.

Knocking K-LOVE off the air would be very negative as people who listen to the radio, specifically K-LOVE would have to listen to a commercial filled, liberally biased radio broadcast that they would find offensive. Radio for some people is all that they have for entertainment, and radio should be enjoyable and informative with no slant.

The K-LOVE format is totally unbiased and nonthreatening. K-LOVE has the unique ability to speak to all ages without offending anyone. The station promotes an even playing field for adults and kids, allowing for dialogue and an understanding interaction between the two. Thank You
